XMAS LETTER

Millions of American boys

will be far from home this Christmas, in strange, new surroundings. Some will spend a listless, unhappy day in camp. Others will be aboard troop trains or convoys bound for "destination unknown." Still others will be fighting through the grim horror of battle, on sea, land or in the air.

With other voters in the state they will mark their choices for the seat to be filled on the state Superior court bench and will vote "yes" or "no" on a proposed amendment to the state constitution. If approved, the amendment would permit the boundaries of election districts in townships and wards of cities and boroughs to be fixed by state law instead of by the county court.

Interest centers in the contests for nine county offices. Three others are to be filled but candidates for them are unopposed. Township and borough auditors, school directors, constables, election officials and town councilmen or road supervisors also will be elected.

Court Session

Election supplies are being distributed to the 42 judges of elections in preparation for the opening of the polls at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. Voting will continue for 13 hours, ending at 8 p.m. The county court will be in session throughout the day to handle legal questions that may arise during the balloting.

The list of candidates for the state and county offices follows:

Judge of the Superior Court—Curtis Bok, D., Claude T. Reno, R., and Charles Palmer, Prohib.

Associate Judge—A. J. Carbaugh, D., Arendtsville, and J. Price Oyler, R., Gettysburg.

Sheriff—Earl W. Guise, D., Straban township, and John E. Millhimes, R., same township.

Yake Unopposed

District Attorney — J. Francis Yake, Jr., D. and R., McSherrystown.

Prothonotary—LeRoy M. (Hamme) Wintrod, D., Littlestown, and Arthur H. Shields, R., Cumberland township.

Following the placing of the names the large wooden cases will be moved to center square where they will be fastened to the wall of the Dougherty and Hartley store, facing the square. Write a keepsake letter. Write him a letter that he will cherish and treasure . . . one that he will read and reread through the lonely holidays . . . a letter that will bring him an awareness of home. Fill it with pleasant memories and a strong sense of faith in the future. Don't hold back words of love and devotion. Tell him the things you would tell him if you had him with you. Write everything pleasant your overflowing heart dictates. Make your letter intimate. Make it sound just like you. Make it speak to him in your own words. Fill it full of the joy, the sights and the memories of other Christmases.

Let him know how much you are thinking of him.

Do not tell him of your troubles, your worries or your disappointments.

Write him the kind of a letter you would like to receive if you were in his boots come next Christmas day.

But above all, be sure to WRITE HIM A LETTER FOR CHRISTMAS.

FIND KIDDIES AFTER SEARCH

Three Zora children, who left their home at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon and were found at 8 o'clock this morning in Fairfield, were the object of search throughout the night by residents of the Zora-Fairfield area and state police.

The youngsters, William, 12; James, 8; and Beatrice, 11, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly, Zora, were playing about their home shortly before 5 o'clock Thursday. Mrs. Kelly then decided to take some newly-made cookies to the children and found they had disappeared. Some clothing was missing from the daughter's room.

Family and friends searched the hills around Zora until 1:15 o'clock this morning when state police were called into the search. A resident of Fairfield discovered the youngsters this morning, but it could not be immediately determined whether they had spent the night in Fairfield or in the fields between Fairfield and Zora.

The hunting season began this morning at 9 o'clock in Adams county with nearly as many numbers as usual trailing rabbits and squirrels and other small game.

Rabbits who banked on the shortage of shells to give them safety found that, shortage or no shortage, a rabbit has to have the ability of an American Ranger if he expects to avoid forming a pointless meal for some county hunter's family.

The county treasurer issued 1,706 hunting licenses up to this morning, just 38 less than had been given out at the same time last year. There were more non-resident licenses issued this year than last with 34 non-resident permits given so far as compared with 50 for both the small and large game season last year. Washington officials formed the bulk of the non-resident hunters seeking permits to hunt in the county.

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, society president, will preside at the meeting.

$500 NEEDED FOR COUNTY'S "HONOR ROLL"

At least $500 additional will be needed to complete payment for the permanent Honor Roll of Adams county's sons and daughters in the armed services, the committee in charge estimated at a meeting in the office of chairman Dr. R. D. Wickerham Friday evening.

All arrangements have been completed for the placing of the honor roll cases prior to the dedication November 11, and work on the placing of the 2,653 name plates, already printed, will begin Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the local furniture factories' show rooms. A corps of six workmen from the factory will place the names in alphabetical order.

$887.65 Donated

Because the name plates will be fastened permanently the committee decided to place additional names, as they are printed, in the side cases. After victory the additional names will be placed in the alphabetical list.

Contributions to date total $887.65, it was announced by the treasurer, Mrs. Henrietta Blocher and the first check for name plates, $795.90, was ordered paid. No estimate could be made by the committee as to how much additional will be needed for name plates because it is unknown how many more men and women from the county will be called into the armed forces. One member stated there was a possibility that another 1,000 names may be added before the war ends. The names already printed do not complete the list of men and women already serving.

NAZI GERMANY JITTERY OVER "INVASION" PREPARATIONS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Hitlerites, laboring under high nerve-tension as the net of military adversity tightens about them, again are having nightmares of Allied invasions of Europe.

Berlin reports activities in southern Britain which, to German eyes, look like preparations for the long-awaited second front in France. Also, over in the Mediterranean, Commander-in-Chief Eisenhower is said to be massing troops on the island of Corsica, and neutral sources say there's a large concentration of Allied transports and warships in that neighborhood.

The Nazis think the Mediterranean signs could mean either of two things. Eisenhower may be planning another landing on the west coast of Italy to assist Allied land operations, or he may be headed for an invasion of southern France, through the Rhone valley.

Just Fishing

Quite likely the Germans in broadcasting these reports are fishing for information. However, it's true that the Allies are making many gestures which probably do mean fresh invasions. What Berlin can't figure out, though, is when and where these offensives are coming off.

Hitler's soothsayer thinks a cross-channel invasion of France may have been decided on in the tripartite conference at Moscow. President Roosevelt yesterday indicated in a press conference that the party—which he said was a great success—was in its final phases and that formal documents of agreement were being drafted.

One of the most important questions—if not THE most important—which was expected to come before the conference was the second-front issue.

If the Moscow conference has agreed that there shall be an Allied invasion of France in the immediate future, then there already is plenty of pre-invasion activity in England for Germany's aviators to observe.

The concentration of troops on Corsica, and the invasion fleet, would fit into this picture perfectly, because it's probable that when the Allies finally invade western France they will strike into southern France at the same time. This operation would force Hitler to defend two widely separated coasts of France simultaneously.

Italian Invasion

Naturally this column isn't predicting a quick invasion of France, but is merely repeating that circumstances might make it advisable and that the operation could still be carried out, despite the lateness of the season. Many military experts have been looking for postponement of the attempt until next spring, but all recognize that it must be controlled by (1) the exigencies of the moment and (2) the feasibility of the operation at that moment.

A further amphibious operation against enemy-held Italian territory has been a subject of general discussion everywhere of late, and especially since the Allied land offensive struck such tough going. There's no question but that we have a hard job cut out for us to fight our way up the peninsula.

Such an invasion, however, should not be taken lightly. It mustn't be overlooked that Marshal Rommel, who is one of the best of Hitler's generals, has a hand-picked and seasoned force of maybe 350,000 men with which to oppose the Anglo-American advance. That force is mobile and large contingents could be shifted quickly to meet any Allied landing. Furthermore, the Italian coasts are heavily fortified north of the present Allied front, "Veritas," military spokesman for the British Office of Military Information, in commenting on such an invasion says:

"An Allied force so employed would have to be on a much greater scale than that used for the invasion in the south to be able to hold its own against Rommel's powerful army. The Allied leaders would have to decide whether in fact they could afford to dissipate their resources to that extent without precluding greater operations which are planned elsewhere."

Escaped Prisoner Is Still At Large

Reading, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP)—State police intensified their search for Victor Andreoli today after they learned that the 28-year-old escaped convict had spent Thursday night in a Reading hotel.

Andreoli, sentenced to life imprisonment for a Luzerne county murder in 1937, made his escape from the Eastern penitentiary in Philadelphia on Wednesday.

State police said three employees of the Reed hotel identified Andreoli as the man who registered Thursday under the name of "John Pyle" of Raleigh, North Carolina, and then checked out early yesterday.

Later, police said, a man answering Andreoli's description was seen walking toward Lancaster.

Guadalupe Peak, 9,000 feet high, is the highest point in Texas.

INDICTED FOR IMPERSONATING
ARMY OFFICER

Philadelphia, Oct. 30 (AP)—Acting mainly on information and evidence supplied by a 26-year-old woman Army Ordnance Inspector, a Federal grand jury yesterday indicted Joseph Erway, 34, on charges of impersonating an officer and issuing of fraudulent checks.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents said that Blanche Nabor, 26, traced Erway for weeks because of a check he had issued to her. Miss Nabor, the FBI said, became suspicious of Erway despite the Oak Leaf on his shoulder and suspected he was not a major because "Army Majors are usually spic and span" and "Erway's tie was always disarranged."

FBI agents traced Erway to a New England Army camp where he is a private. They said he will be brought here as soon as he completes a term in the guardhouse for a violation of Army regulations.

The grand jury also returned indictments against Samuel W. Miller, former teller in the Oxford branch of the Corn Exchange National bank and Trust company, Philadelphia, and Lester William Schuyler and Robert Henry Evans, former clerks in the Miners National bank, Pottsville.

Miller was charged with embezzling $300, Schuyler with embezzling $481 and making false entries, and Evans with embezzling $98.12.

SLAYER LEFT TOY ELEPHANT FOR BABY SON

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Three hours after he bludgeoned and choked his wife to death in her fashionable Beekman Hill apartment last Sunday morning, Wayne Lonergan returned to the house and left a toy elephant for his baby son.

Police said the Royal Canadian Air Force cadet first went to a friend's home, used scissors to cut his blood-stained uniform into shreds, and donned civilian clothes.

Then, they said, Lonergan went to another friend's home, got the toy elephant he had left there the night before, and took it to the triplets apartment of his wife, Mrs. Patricia Burton Lonergan, 22, whose battered, unclothed body lay across a bed on the third floor.

For Son Billy

He entered the building at noon, police said, and left the package on the second floor stairway landing after pencilling the name of his son, "Billy Lonergan," in large letters across the top.

Lonergan told police in his confession, they reported, that he killed his estranged wife in a fit of rage after she told him that never again would she permit him to see their 1½ year-old son.

But when a grand jury indicted him on a first degree murder charge yesterday it declared he killed her "wilfully, feloniously and of malice aforethought."

Mario Enzo Gabelline, an interior decorator who escorted the young heiress to a night club the night before she was slain, said Mrs. Lonergan told him last August she was "tired of supporting" her husband, who is 26.

Seek Uniform

Police still were searching today for the powder-blue uniform Lonergan said he tossed into the East river with a heavy metal dumbbell attached.

Meanwhile, Lonergan reposes in a cell at city prison. He has signed the equivalent of a pauper's oath which permits assignment of an attorney to defend him at the state's expense. His wife possessed a $250,000 trust fund and was heiress to a $5,000,000 fortune left by her grandfather, Max Bernheimer, a brewer, but friends of the family expressed belief Lonergan had been cut off as a beneficiary in her will.

After passing through a Chamber of Horrors the 45 masked and costumed young people lined up for costume judging with the following receiving prizes: Most unusual, Jack Ridinger, first, and Bruce Westerdahl, second; best imitation, Dolores Cooper, first, and Margaret Bushman, second; and the funniest, William Snyder, first, and Walter Rosemberg, second.

A hayride, games, ghost stories and refreshments completed the evening.

"If you have Winesap, York Imperial, Newton or Albemarle Pippin, smaller than 2½ inches in diameter which meet U. S. No 1 grade, they must be kept for sale to the Food Distribution administration."

Previously it had been announced that the four varieties were restricted for sale to the FDA if under 2½ inches.

NEW EPIDEMIC
COVERS STATE

Harrisburg, Oct. 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania is undergoing an outbreak of cerebrospinal meningitis with 958 cases—a new high—having been reported by the State Health Department for the current year.

Dr. A. H. Stewart, health secretary, said other areas in the nation were experiencing similar increases. He described the disease as an acute infection affecting the membranes of the brain and spinal cord. In the first six months of this year, 102 deaths were recorded in Pennsylvania.

Mario Enzo Gabelline, an interior decorator who escorted the young heiress to a night club the night before she was slain, said Mrs. Lonergan told him last August she was "tired of supporting" her husband, who is 26.

Seek Uniform

Police still were searching today for the powder-blue uniform Lonergan said he tossed into the East river with a heavy metal dumbbell attached.

Meanwhile, Lonergan reposes in a cell at city prison. He has signed the equivalent of a pauper's oath which permits assignment of an attorney to defend him at the state's expense. His wife possessed a $250,000 trust fund and was heiress to a $5,000,000 fortune left by her grandfather, Max Bernheimer.

HERSHEY ROLLS OVER MAROONS BY 48-0 SCORE

A hard hitting, well drilled Hershey high eleven kept its unbeaten record clean Friday night by walloping the Gettysburg high Maroons here 48-0 and thereby strengthened their grip on first place in the Southern Pennsylvania conference.

Coach Peck McKnight's eleven left little doubt as to the outcome of the game as they pushed over two touchdowns in quick order in the first period, added three more in the second and then, after being held scoreless in the third period, rammed over another pair of tallies for good measure in the final round.

Gettysburg filled the air with a flock of passes throughout the evening in desperate but futile efforts to score.

After Dorsey returned the opening kickoff to his own 19, the Maroons immediately took to the air and Dorsey whipped a pass to Howard for a first down on the 30. A quick kick put the ball on the Trojans' 41 and two plays later Hershey scored.

Strike Quickly

Handling the ball in basketball fashion, Girvin went around left end for 20 yards, then lateraled to Ditzler who got five more and he in turn lateraled to Sponaugle who ran 20 more yards to reach the Gettysburg 19. On the first play Girvin went around left end to tally. Sponaugle placed kicked the first of his six extra points in that manner.

A few plays later Hershey took the ball on the Gettysburg 40 through a punt and on two tries by Girvin and R. Kopenhaver the Trojans scored, Kopenhaver going 20 yards.

Early in the second period a pass to Sponaugle put the ball on the Maroons' 11 and Kopenhaver went over from the three.

A 30-yard return of a punt put the ball on Gettysburg's 25 a few minutes later and then Kopenhaver drove through right tackle to tally another touchdown from the five-yard stripe.

The final Hershey touchdown in the first half resulted when Putt took a lateral following a pass the entire play being good for 19 yards.

Maroons Rally

Coach Dry's men played their best ball in the third period. Hershey received the kickoff and rolled off three straight first downs to reach the Maroon 10 where the locals put up a gallant stand and took the ball. On the first play Sterritt Dorsey broke through left tackle and behind nice interference ran 28 yards before being thrown on the 38. A pass, Dorsey to Tonsel, produced another first down on the Hershey 40 but there the rally broke down when Girvin intercepted.

Following an exchange of punts early in the fourth period Hershey went 24 yards for a score, Simoni cracking over on a line plunge from the two.

The final touchdown came in the last minute of play when Sponaugle scored from the three-yard stripe climaxing a 48-yard march by the Trojans.

Hershey piled up 17 first downs while the Maroons made five. Coach Dry's lads completed six of 21 passes with two being intercepted. Hershey completed five of eight aerial tries, none of which were intercepted.

The Sampson, N. Y., Naval Station basketball team has been booked for a couple of doubleheaders in Buffalo's Civic Auditorium, if Navy rules about playing off-base don't interfere. Opposition will be either Colorado Aggies or Brigham Young in one bill and East Texas and U. of Savannah in the other, with Canisius College taking the other half.

MAROON SCRUBS TIE CARLISLE RESERVES 6-6

Revamped Lion 11 To Meet Mountaineers

State College, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP)—Penn State fielded a hastily revamped football team for today's game with West Virginia but still reigned the favorite in the 12th meeting between the two schools. A crowd of 8,000 was expected.

Loss of 17 players through reassignments in the Navy training program forced Coach Bob Higgins to revise the Nittany Lions starting line-up. However, by switching men from one position to another, Higgins will have only one newcomer on his starting team—Frank Klasing, a Marine corps trainee who became eligible for varsity competition at the end of the first semester and who will play a guard position.

The 26-man West Virginia squad worked out at Altoona yesterday before completing the trip here.

ARMY-PENN GRID CLASH IS SOLD OUT

Philadelphia, Oct. 30 (AP)—They hung out the SRO sign today at Franklin Field where the Army and the University of Pennsylvania put off the idea of staging it in the Rose Bowl . . . since the Redskins are likely to be the eastern playoff team, the report may carry considerable weight . . . since the play-off is scheduled for Dec. 19 in the midwest, such a shift would eliminate a lot of financial uncertainty even though it did deprive some fans of (1) a last chance to see the team they follow all season and (2) penumonia.

Coach Haehnlen's lads received the kickoff and went to midfield and then missed a fine chance to score when a pass slipped through the fingers of a receiver with a clear field ahead.

Gettysburg dominated play throughout the second half.

Reesman, Cromwell and Shiner played good ball on the line with Whittinghill and Heintzelman taking the backfield honors. The Maroons showed a weakness on breaking up end runs and in offensive blocking.

The summaries:

Gettysburg	Carlisle
L.E.—Reesman	Eser
L.T.—Coleman	Biggs
L.G.—Heyser	DeLunn
C.—Cromwell	Owens
R.G.—Sharrah	Shank

Score by periods:

Bisons Favored To Again Defeat Mules

Allentown, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP)—Winner of a game with Muhlenberg earlier this season, Bucknell was a slight favorite today to take the second game of a home-and-home series with the Mules before an expected 2,500 spectators.

The Bisons won 14-6 at Lewisburg but the line-ups of both squads have changed greatly since then because of Navy V-12 and Marine transfers.

He grabbed his gun, stepped out and bogged the bird, then discovered he had only five minutes to catch the train back to his base. His wife wrote that she enjoyed the meal he had provided. A case of going hunting—instead of fishing—and getting nary a bite.

BERTELLI BIDS GRID FAREWELL BEFORE 80,000

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Most goodbyes are said in privacy but today millions will be shouting farewells to football friends whose 1943 campaigns have been cut short by the Navy Department's November 1 graduations.

Some 80,000 fans will give Angelo Bertelli, aerial marksman of the Notre Dame squad, a vocal sendoff at Cleveland where the Irish and the U. S. Naval Academy eleven tangle in a meeting of undefeated teams. Four of Bertelli's present teammates will accompany him to Parris Island Marine camp next week.

Another throng, this one of 71,000, will be on hand at Philadelphia where Pennsylvania and Army, likewise unbeaten, are the opponents. Early in the week Penn lost Fullback George Veling and Reserve End Ben Celian by transfers.

Duke to Lose 22

Georgia Tech and Duke, two outstanding lend-lease powers, are scheduled to entertain 40,000 at Franklin Field where the Army and the University of Pennsylvania put on the line.

It was the Clairton Bears' eighth victory of the year and their 21st in a row. New Castle won the Class AA title last year and hadn't lost a game this year until it met Clairton.

Another contender for the double-A honors, Turtle Creek Union, will entertain a rugged Donora team today. The third remaining aspirant, Brownsville, is idle this week.

In Class B competition, another clash of unbeaten teams ended in a decisive 27 to 0 victory for Aspinwall over Belle Vernon. Belle Vernon got only two first downs and never seriously threatened to score. In other important Class B games, Leetsdale eliminated Moon township 7 to 0, Bethel knocked McDonald out of the race 13 to 0, and Trafford won by the same score, 13-0, over Ligonier.

Bertkovich Leaves

Tony Bertkovich, Illinois fullback on loan to Purdue, will be with the Boilermakers for the last time against Wisconsin. Daley is through at Michigan following the final gun in the Illinois game. Tulsa heads into a Southwestern of Texas outfit that has lost virtually its first team and Dartmouth appears in the Yale bowl.

Other games today include:

East—Brown at Princeton, Columbia at Cornell, Colgate at Holy Cross, Case at Rochester and Bucknell vs. Muhlenberg.

Midwest—Iowa State at Oklahoma, Missouri vs. Nebraska, Fort Riley at Iowa Pre-Flight, Kansas State at Kansas.

Southwest—Texas at Southern Methodist, Texas A&M at Arkansas, Texas Christian at Louisiana State.

Far West—St. Mary's Pre-Flight vs. March Field, Spokane Air Force vs. Washington, UCLA at San Diego Naval.

South—Georgia Pre-Flight at Tullahoma, Wake Forest at Clemson, North Carolina vs. North Carolina State, Virginia vs. VMI.

SPORT SHORTS

Mexico City, Oct. 30 (AP)—Ten golfers from the United States and some of Mexico's best amateurs tee off today in the qualifying round of Mexico's national tournament. One of the Americans is Schoolboy Rowe, major league baseball pitcher, who won 14 games for the Philadelphia Phillies this season.

John Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, often called the greatest football player of all time, says stories about his refusing to train are all wrong.

"They say I performed miracles without training," Thorpe said yesterday in an address to the Wentworth Military Academy student body. "That's not true. I trained religiously all during my years of my competition."

Stockton, Calif., Oct. 30 (AP)

Coach A. A. Stagg of the west coast's surprise team, College of the Pacific, hopes to schedule three additional games for his club, beaten only by the University of Southern California.

Stagg didn't name the prospective opponents.

Baltimore, Oct. 30 (AP)

With $25,000 and eighth place among the leading money winners of all time in sight at the end of a mile and three sixteenths route, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out faced a field of four other colts today in the seventh running of the Pimlico Special.

Green-tree stable's son of Equipoise was quoted at 6-5 in the overnight odds to romp home first and win the $25,000 purse for his owner and a $2,500 bonus for his trainer, Marylander John Gaver.

TREE AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Oct. 30 (AP)—Ronald Tree, chairman of a British Parliamentary committee on air transport, pausing here Thursday night on his way home after a visit to the United States, said he did not think "it should be difficult to arrive at an overall agreement on international air transport" after the war.

Newly-Blinded To Get State Aid

Harrisburg, Oct. 30 (AP)—Newly-blinded Pennsylvanians who find it irksome to learn all over again how to shave themselves or comb their hair are going to get some help in their own homes from the state.

The Department of Welfare today announced the appointment of eight instructors for the new home instruction program for the adult blind. The instructors themselves are sightless. Each will handle about 500 cases. Relief clients will come in for a big share of attention with the ultimate aim to make them self-supporting.

Administered by the State Council for the Blind, the program was authorized by the 1943 legislature under a $69,700 appropriation. Rep. Gus Wachhaus, blind, Shenandoah Republican, sponsored the bill.

Virtually the only game in which farewells won't be in order is the collision of Ohio State and Indiana at Columbus. They rank among the country's best all-civilian teams.

Minnesota hopes that Herman Frickey's re-appearance won't be as emphatic as Bill Daley's last week. Frickey, last year at Minnesota, will be ending his brief Northwestern career in today's contest.

CHICKEN AND FISH

Chicken and fish! Chicken and fish!
Luncheon and dinner-time's commonest dish.

Nowhere the generous hostess and host

Offer to feed us on beefsteak or roast.

Vanished have brisket and saddle
and joints.

Chicken and fish may be had without points.

Chicken and fish! Chicken and fish!
Livers and giblets and wings, as you wish!

Chicken and white fish — this team
never fails—

Everything served but the feathers
and scales.

Ordeal is warfare! Oh, when will it stop?

Chicken and seafood, but never a chop!

Chicken and fish! Chicken and fish!
Hear the hens cackle and hear the

How will you take it, a leg or a

Fried, baked or fancy, to-wit: a la

Weary of chicken, you say? That is strange.

Perhaps you had better take fish
for a change.

GADGETS

Two of the most fascinating stores,
that are forever engaging my imagination, are these—one a unique Book Shop in which have been gathered the unusual books of the world.
Books that have not been the first sellers of their day but the ripest.
Books that have fed the imagination, stimulated the vision and brought tranquility to the spirit. I would like to own such a Book Shop
in a small town—and there live out my remaining days!

The other sort of store that has always drawn my attention and interest is the one that is heavily stored with gadgets—every variety of saw, hammer, wrench, and whatnot. And the endless new inventions that stimulate the desire for their use. I am forever picking up gadgets like this, and setting them aside for the opportune moment.
It would be fun to be the proprietor of such a place, for I believe that I could imagine any number of uses for such contrivances that the inventor never thought about!

Each year at my summer island
home I put aside some of these pickups for which I plan a use. And what a thrill I get when I invent a new use that my gadget fits perfectly!

Some time ago I bought a small container that looks like a fountain pen that has within its secret insides four small screw drivers. This came in handy when my favorite clock decided that it did not want to go any longer. I thought of my little inanimate friend—and, presto!
after much tinkering I had a moving, living time-piece again.

It was this very love for gadgets
that started Henry Ford on his journey to fame and usefulness. He started by taking watches apart and putting them together again. He apparently loved the little gadgets
that made up such a fascinating article of small screws, wheels, and springs.

There is one store in my town that I always hesitate to pass, and in whose interior I find oblivious tranquility—a store of a million (perhaps) gadgets! Nothing stimu-lates one more than to note what has stimulated the minds of other folks. May gadgets never grow less and never grow useless!

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

Scientists wonder whether there's a limit to space while parkers prove it.

A friend of mine has graciously consented to confess a mistake which the rest of us should diligently avoid this coming winter.
Last year he slipped into the careless habit of assuming that if too much water collected in the sediment trap of the fuel system he would have it emptied out and not worry about that bridge until he came to it. Unknown to him the combination of water and gasoline in the fuel pump was exerting a corrosive effect on the zinc part of that important unit. In due course the resulting zinc carbonate actually clogged the carburetor and gave him a real headache on his one and only trip of the year.

Secret Is in Compromise

In all engineering discussions the matter of compromising invariably comes to the fore when designers finally get around to what they believe is to be incorporated in the final product. This may seem far removed from your personal efforts to get more to the gallon or to the tire, but actually compromising is the keynote of saving. Any engine can be made to give several more miles to the gallon of gas; and many can be jumped up surprisingly. But this is usually done with a loss in power, in performance and often in all-around gas mileage. If the mix is too lean there is need for more choking in starting, and there will be strain and overheating on upgrades. Tires carried at too high pressure will roll farther without undue tread wear, provided the roads are smooth. An actual service is an over-inflated tire pounds
more, wears in a more serious fashion.

Get the angles on ideas before you adopt them. What you really want is overall efficiency.

Here's an idea for those of you who want to get the best service
from the engine:

In their studies of the "Chemical Problems of Engine Lubrication," offered in a recent issue of the SAE
Journal, Messrs. R. G. Larson, F. A.
Armfield and G. M. Whitney "flushed" the crankcases of test engines with the oil to be used for the tests. This ought to answer the question as to what to use for flushing. Just use oil of the same grade as you are going to put into the engine for the next 1,000 miles or for the particular season at hand.
They used the oil for 200 miles of driving before considering the flushing complete.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"I have spoken before about the importance of temperature when considering the cause of car troubles,
but maybe I didn't make it plain that if you hear strange noises
when the engine is first started up
you should not jump to the conclusion that there's trouble ahead.

It's in the Air

In fact, it is bad policy to tear down an engine just because of what are known as "cold" noises.

"Wait until the engine has warmed up, and then start worrying if the noises remain. Among the noises heard when first starting are those caused by slightly sticky valves.
There are also mild piston slaps
which vanish as soon as the pistons expand normally. Included among the cold noises are those due to bearings being slightly shy of lubricant."

One thing that is costing us a lot of tire tread in these days of short runs and slow driving is the inefficient action of brakes which cause the wheels to lock. Sometimes this can be due to a warped brake drum or to a sticky brake shoe. At higher speeds such conditions would not be sufficient to lock the wheels and scuff the tires,
but when the car is rolling at a mere 15 or 20 miles per hour any tendency toward locking is encouraged by the slow speed itself. Another unfavorable factor is the excess of braking power on the average car. It tends to punish the tires at lower speeds.

Three to Remember

If the engine is slow warming up these days better check the motor thermostat as it may not close when the engine is cold.

What often passes for worn connecting rod bearings is merely a temporary condition caused by overheating or lack of sufficient lubricant. Lack of water can be included in this because it will, in turn, cause overheating and thinning of the oil to a point where there is not enough oil pressure to keep the bearings quiet.

It will take but a moment to do this, but now and again after the engine is well warmed up, raise the hood and take a look to see if the choke valve is fully open. Checking this saves much waste of fuel
as chokes often are found only partially open.

Because low oil pressure does not necessarily mean that the engine isn't being lubricated there is a tendency to overlook the fact that the causes of such pressure drop may result in other serious complications. For instance, pressure often is low because of accumulations of sludge which clog the oil screen. This sludge will eventually clog other parts of the oiling system, not to mention filling up the oil filter cartridge prematurely.
Nothing that isn't right about a car
can be tossed aside as unimportant.

Why the Difference?

One of the most interesting questions ever to reach this column asks why a driver can get better mileage
going both ways over a hilly road (by coasting freely) than by covering the same distance over a level stretch. The point is: Doesn't the return trip up the hills one has coasted down completely offset the savings over the first leg of the trip?

I think the way to answer this is to take a closer look at the trip over the level road. Isn't it true that the car could coast a high percentage of the way, but that the driver usually fails to take advantage of momentum? Free wheeling revealed many unseen opportunities for savings. Also on level ground many drivers keep just under the car's free rolling speed. Thus the engine is constantly striving to keep the car rolling. This is always wasteful.

Sometimes leakage which develops
in the exhaust is due to clogging of the tail pipe. Failure to consider this has resulted in many owners going to the expense of trying to check leakage that would not exist
at all were it not for this tail pipe condition which impeded free exit of exhaust gases. Among the things which can clog the tail pipe are:
Hardened mud from backing into a bank of soft earth, bending of the pipe from striking an obstruction and closing of the end due to collapse from excessive corrosion.

In the Motor Mail

Q. Once in a great while, if I have occasion to stop just before going up a hill, the car engine seems to race when I again let in the clutch.
Also the rear wheels grab and then let go just as if the brakes had been applied. Could there be something wrong with the clutch? Or the brakes? J. M. D.

JURY PONDERS MURDER GUILT

Lock Haven, Pa., Oct. 29 (AP)—The Clinton county jury that will decide whether William H. Cummings, 14, is guilty on a murder charge in the shotgun slaying of Frederick Raymond Buckingham, 77, gathered today for the judge's charge after the defense rested its case.

"I never wanted to kill Buck," the young defendant testified yesterday, explaining he was hunting rabbits near Buckingham's home in Castanea last August when his gun was discharged by accident. The charge struck the elderly man in the head as he walked out of his house.

State Policeman William Fink had testified for the state the Cummings boy told him he shot Buckingham because he was "mad at him" but on cross-examination the defendant insisted "everything I told up to today was untrue."

District Attorney Burritt L. Haag asked the jury to find the boy guilty of second degree murder while Defense Counsel A. H. Lipez pleaded for acquittal.

Japan's admirals and militarists

were planning to attack and invade

the United States 15 years ago.

They frequently taunted foreign newspaper correspondents with the statement that war with America was inevitable and that Japan would emerge victorious, according to James R. Young, author of the sensational book on the real Japan, "Behind the Rising Sun."

Young, who was imprisoned by the Japs as the climax to his 13 years as a foreign correspondent in Tokyo, served as technical adviser during the filming of RKO Radio's "Behind the Rising Sun," which is based on his book, and which features Margo, Tom Neal, J. Carroll Naish and Robert Ryan.

The film will be shown at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

"The Oklahoma Kid," a western drama starring James Cagney and originally released in 1939, will play at the Majestic theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The film features Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane and Donald Crisp, in addition to the star, in a story of the growth of Tulsa and the fierce rivalries out of which it emerged.
